In addition, according to the Law on Virtual Asset Service Providers, nine exchanges are currently operating in the market. 19 domestic and 160 foreign virtual assets are traded on these exchanges. In terms of market value, at the peak of 2021, an average of MNT 1.0-1.4 trillion was traded per day, while in the third quarter of 2022, an average of MNT 300 billion was traded per day. Legislation regulating the cryptocurrency industry, known as the Law on Virtual Asset Service Providers, came into force on December 14 last year.

As of the 3rd quarter, virtual money-based digital bond services and repo deal platform services are being tested in the regulatory sandbox. These two products facilitate the digitalization of the sale and purchase of debt instruments.
